Subject: Follow-Up ROHR TREND ALERT!!

Dear Alert Service Subscriber,
This is a critical short-term view:

The MARCH S&P 500 FUTURE weakness this morning from the 1,925-32 resistance has left it testing lower violated resistance (now support) at 1,902-1,895. To be clear on the fine line 'Tolerance' of that area, it is likely the 1,893.70 top of the gap from Friday's higher opening (i.e. Friday's low of the day) on the BoJ surprise cut to negative interest rates.

Much below 1,893.70 it will be more likely to want to revisit the more major 1,865-60 area that it held all week last week on setbacks (even after the still somewhat hawkish FOMC Statement.)

This is especially so due to two influences. Much further weakness from here might trigger a short term trend indication that would project yet more near term weakness. Also watch the NYMEX MARCH CRUDE OIL FUTURE to see if it holds the 30.00-29.50 support after its return to weakness since yesterday. If it manages any near term rebound, that will at the very least be a constructive influence back into the equities... and vice versa.
