

Alan Rohrbach

---

From: ROHR Alert <rohralert@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, October 04, 2016 9:29 AM
To: undisclosed-recipients:
Subject: ROHR TREND ALERT!!

Dear Alert Service Subscriber,
This is a critical short-term view:

As we and other informed observers suspected, Deutsche Bank's travails on its overall business model in general, and more sharply of late due to the US Department of Justice proposed $14 billion fine, are not another "Lehman moment" that threatens global capital markets.

Germany's financial champion weakening may have put the global equities (especially in Europe) under pressure. Yet JPMorgan/Chase chief Jamie Dimon confirmed most other observers instincts yesterday when he noted that Deutsche's balance sheet meant it was nothing like a Lehman Brothers.

There is also the politico-economic dynamic. The DoJ still serves within the executive branch of the US government. Bottom line: On his way out of the door at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue Barack Obama does not want to be responsible for destroying the career of his friend Angela Merkel (who does NOT want to provide a government bailout to Deutsche.) The timely negotiation we expected to significantly reduce that DoJ fine has already begun.

This is the critical consideration:

We have already reviewed at length the importance of the 2,160-55 area due to the lead contract S&P 500 future swings out of mid-July through early September. And the December S&P 500 future being back above it last Wednesday left it as support prior to the Deutsche disruption.

Yet the market swinging repeatedly above and below it is essentially eliminating it as a key area. As far as lower supports, we once again note the previous December S&P 500 future violation of nominal early August 2,141.50 trading low support was telling, leading to the early September test of the more prominent 2,120 and 2,105-00 congestion areas that remain major lower supports. Yet more recently that 2,141.50 (with a bit of Tolerance) has proven to be more critical, as evidenced by it even holding on the Deutsche-driven selloff last week.

Higher resistances remain 2,185-90 weekly Oscillator and hefty congestion, along with the extended weekly Oscillator resistance that moved up to 2,225 this week.

For those of you who are subscribers, see the latest analysis and Market Observations write-up at [www.rohr-blog.com for more on the current trend evolution. Market Observations are available to Gold and Platinum subscribers.]

NOTICE: The Rohr International, Inc. research team or its principals may already have entered positions or have orders working based on this view.

Thanks for your interest.

This Current ROHR TREND ALERT!! will be available soon via the sidebar at www.rohr-blog.com for Platinum echelon subscribers.

Please reply 'Unsubscribe' if you no longer wish to receive these emails.

Contact: rohralert@gmail.com

This review of market positions and all other information is strictly for educational purposes. This information is provided without consideration of portfolio requirements, suitability for financial risk, or psychological state of any recipient. Any use of this information to implement actual trades or investments is the sole responsibility of the individual or entity authorizing that decision. This waives your right to any claim of explicit or incidental liability for financial loss or forgone profit against Rohr International, Inc. and any informational contributors under all circumstances. Information contained herein may have already been disseminated to others who may have acted upon it. Implicit in the Rohr educational services is the understanding that principals or employees of Rohr may have already taken positions. By review of the Rohr Alerts and/or Rohr Views and all attendant information you confirm receipt of them as educational content, as well as agreement with all of the stipulations articulated above.

A service of Rohr International, Inc.

© 2016 All international rights reserved. Redistribution strictly prohibited without written consent