Subject: ROHR ALERT!! NOTE: Much the Same with Trump Tension

Dear Subscribers,

The US equities trend continues to be strong, yet with a downward ripple this morning based on President Trump's acquiescence to Vladimir Putin's claim that official Russia had no part in 2016 US election meddling. That is in spite of strong new evidence and indictments by US Special Counsel Robert Mueller. This has US legislators from both sides of the political aisle condemning such a weak performance, with the most extreme accusing Trump of de facto treason.

Even in the wake of economic data that shows continued weakness elsewhere in the world (especially China and weaker than expected Euro-zone trade figures) while the US remains strong, this is a modest problem for the US equities insofar as it is another distraction from normal business. Yet as with so many previous instances of Trump-driven US equities 'indigestur-ion' (subscribers should refer back to our June 10th Rohr-Blog post), we shortly expect a Trump 'adjustment' of his remarks putting Putin on a par with US intelligence services.

And in any event, after the strong US equities performance in the wake of last Tuesday's China tariffs-inspired temporary selloff, the key short term support is still back into the same support levels (more below.)

Courtesy Repeat of Monday's critical consideration:

The 'front month' S&P 500 future above 2,700-10 again in early May made that support it only slipped below temporarily on Euro-zone concerns in late May. Yet quickly back above 2,700-10 left it important support again. By early June it had also pushed above 2,741 key interim full month of May resistance.

That left higher resistances back up at 2,760-70 and 2,800-10 area. Even though the lower of them was exceeded in early June and held in the wake of Fed Chair Powell's more hawkish stance, trade tension concerns saw September S&P 500 future back below 2,770-60 congestion in late June. Also below 2,741 interim support at that time left more major support into 2,710-00 again, which held.

The ability to recover back above 2,741 after the last US Employment report was impressive... and that much more so on last week's early push above 2,760-70 that held during the very temporary late Tuesday selloff (on those expanded US tariffs on Chinese exports.) Higher resistance remains the 2,800-10 area (currently being tested once again), the mid-2,800 area and the 2,878.50 all-time high.
