Subject: ROHR ALERT!! NOTE: One-Day Holiday, Markets Same, Calendar Delay

Dear Subscribers,

We are coming to you quite a bit earlier than usual to notify you we will be out today, returning to the office Tuesday morning. That said, all remains much the same as observed in last Friday's ALERT!!

We note the global economic data was a bit stronger than expected this morning for a change into a day with no significant US economic releases. Even so, as noted previous the more important macro influences on US EQUITIES and other markets are still current trade developments.

Courtesy Repeat of Friday's critical consideration

September S&P 500 future 2,800-10 area resistance was modestly exceeded into mid-July. Subsequent concerns left only very modest slippage back below that area until the more positive sentiment returned into late July. Higher resistances remained in the 2,840-50 area, reinforced by the late July downside reaction from that area, and seemingly reinstated on the mid-August drop back below it.

Yet not for long, even if subsequent initial recoveries stalling into the low end of that range confirmed its prominence. However, it was exceeded once again on the mid-August surge from still key 2,810-00 support. It was also higher again despite USD/TRY strength, and held 2,840-50 range on the politically-driven reaction Wednesday morning, August 15th (see that morning's ALERT!! for full analysis.)

Higher resistance at the 2,878.50 January all-time high was exceeded last Monday morning, with the next classical weekly Oscillator resistance into 2,895-2,900 also overrun by last Wednesday afternoon (and interestingly rising to 2,905-10 this week.) While we often discount the technical importance of the 'big penny' level, in this case it is meaningful. September S&P 500 future has now slipped below 2,895-2,900 recent congestion support into an unsure situation. Next supports are that 2,878.50 January old all-time high it is below again, 2,850-40 and 2,810-00.
