Subject: ROHR ALERT!! NOTE: Report and Event Changes

Dear Subscribers,

We are coming to you a bit later than usual in order to clarify the reporting and event schedule changes into Wednesday's US National Day of Mourning for President George H.W. Bush. In the first instance, he was a true patriot and leader who deserves every bit of that recognition along with condolences to his family.

Outside of the adjustments listed below, we can come to you with such a brief note today because all of the macro psychology and Evolutionary Trend View price developments remain exactly the same as noted in Monday's ALERT!!

The scheduled report and event changes for Wednesday are first of all that Fed Chair Powell's testimony at the US Senate Joint Economic Committee has been cancelled outright. Due to no immediate rescheduling date being available, that will need to be announced as and when such an opportunity is available. Yet the Fed will release its Beige Book at 14:00 EST Wednesday as previously scheduled.

ADP Employment Change, US Q3 Productivity and the ISM Non-Manufacturing data will all be deferred into the same times on Thursday as their previously scheduled Wednesday releases. Although Markit has not formally announced any change to its Services PMI, we presume that will also be deferred into Thursday.

All else remains the same as below.

Courtesy Repeat of Monday's critical consideration

In late October the December S&P 500 future Broke DOWN below 2,708 from its broad weekly up channel since the February-April sharp reaction lows. As noted previous, the rally into early November after a new late-October trading low was an UP Closing Price Reversal (CPR) from the previous week's 2,670 Close.

That extended the channel Tolerance to the 2,675-70 range with the UP CPR 'extended' Tolerance to 2,627 (heavy red line) at the low of the preceding week then being the ultimate test of the bull trend. Yet it held Friday November 23rd, depriving the bears of what might have been a far more meaningful downward spiral. It is one of our classic Sherlock Holmes eliminating a 'highly unlikely' possibility leading to the other outcome (see page 2 on <http://bit.ly/25GidVh>.)

In hindsight it is (as always) easy to see how the bears inability to extend their control led to the sharp recovery as succeeding levels of stressors were removed (<http://bit.ly/2BOdF7u> as of 09:00 EST this morning.) And initial modest recovery on the Brexit breakthrough last Monday was indeed able to get (as we inquired on Friday) "Better, better, better" on the additional major stress reduction from the US-China warming. It is now interesting that the December S&P 500 future has stalled after a brief look above the 2,800 area resistance, with interim 2,750 area as next support. Higher resistances remain into the 2,850 and 2,900 areas.
