Subject: ROHR-BLOG: REMINDER NOTICE: Out on Friday

Dear Subscribers,

We will be out of the office on Friday to attend to some critical personal business, returning to the office Monday morning.

We appreciate this will mean missing the US Employment report release. Yet the markets are now more so attendant to ‘macro’ factors, as we have noted for many weeks leading up to President Trump’s recent tariffs threats that are reinforcing ‘Accelerated Uncertainty’; which is our extended theme since early this week.

Due to the recent resurgence of volatility, we have been careful to extend the Evolutionary Trend View (ETV) to include more far reaching key price levels in the research note distributed as promised for this morning after the ECB rate decision and press conference. We are confident this should serve you until our return.

Thanks for your understanding of our need to address our personal need, and we look forward to resuming our ‘macro’ perspectives and the technical Evolutionary Trend View on Monday.

Best regards-

Rohr
